

Wall Paper Monstrosities

may be seen on a number of walls, completely marring the artistic appearance of the home and producing an incongruity of colors and figures that physicians have ascribed as responsible for the nervous and irritable condition of their patients. We regulate such defects by prescribing harmonizing color effects and dainty patterns that are certain to appeal to the esthetic taste of the most fastidious and to transform the home into a pleasing blend of appealing tones.

Simplicity in B. W. Hooker & Co.'s Wall Papers is the keynote of their success in producing such a tasty home. They are subdued, yet give the home such a rich effect that it is much admired. If you do not select your papers here, you sacrifice the style and originality which we advocate and which are so much appreciated by those of good taste.

It's a riot. What is it? "The Wishing Ring." Look who's in it, 300 Barre people. "Nuff sed," I'm going—adv.

E. C. Woodward of Danville arrived in the city last evening and will spend a day or two visiting friends and relatives.

J. G. Van Trudell of Rutland arrived in the city last evening to spend the week end with friends on North Main street.

Adolpho Beranini of Bethel arrived in the city this morning, and will make an extended visit with relatives on Beckley street.

Miss Fannie Constantine of Hardwick arrived in the city last evening and will spend several days as the guest of friends on Pearl street.

John Sheldon of Woodsville, N. H., returned to his home last evening after spending a few days in Barre and vicinity on business.

Almond C. Richardson, who has been visiting friends at Goddard during the past two days, left this morning for his home in Rochester, N. Y.

Miss Florence Beebe, a teacher in the village school at Chelsea, visited friends in the city yesterday, while en route to Richmond, where she will remain for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Farr, who have been visiting their niece, Mrs. M. I. Spaulding of Branch street, for several days, left this morning to return to their home in Morgan.

A. L. Martin, who has been employed in Bellows Falls for six months, arrived in the city last evening and visited friends while en route to Plainfield, where he will spend the week end as the guest of relatives.

The German sea raids continue to destroy lives and property; the Christmas club continues to make lives happy and to start the fund for own property. Barre Savings Bank & Trust Co. Open from 7 to 8 Saturday and Monday evenings.

Victor Galli arrived in the city yesterday from Boston, where he has been sojourning with friends and relatives during the past week and will visit relatives on Farwell street until to-morrow, when he leaves for his home in Montreal, P. Q.

John and Allen Smith of Graniteville passed through the city last evening while on their way to South Ryegate, where they are to remain until after the funeral of their half-brother, Dr. Angus H. L. Smith, whose death occurred in New York, where he was an interne in the hospital at Blackwell's island.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Taft of Mount street are suffering with the prevailing distemper. Mr. Taft being confined to his bed. Mrs. Lorinda Mower, who is living with them, is also sick. Next Monday, the 22d, will be the 95th anniversary of the latter's birth, but owing to the sickness in the family no observance can be made.

Roy D. Whitman, who is staging the play, "Wishing Ring," to be presented to a Barre audience on February 8 and 9 under the auspices of the Woman's club, left last evening for Burlington, where he produced "Fi Fi of the Toy Shop" last night and will again to-night at the Strong theatre, under the auspices of the Neighborhood Home.

Miss Edna Dasher, a teacher in the Chelsea village school, arrived in the city yesterday to spend several days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dasher of upper Washington street. The schools in Chelsea have been closed for the next week on account of several cases of measles which have broken out in and around the village. It is expected that the schools will resume sessions January 29.

Miss Rose Miller, a deputy supreme commander of the Maccabees, who is visiting several reviews of the order in Vermont before returning to her home in Pawtucket, R. I., conferred yesterday with the officers of the City hospital over the proposal to establish a local hospital service for the benefit of Harmon review. The proposal is still being debated, although it is probable that arrangements will have been made before Miss Miller leaves the city.

Pending a hearing of the evidence, Judge H. W. Scott yesterday issued an order whereby William H. Jackson of Summer street, arrested a fortnight ago on a charge of non-support, is to pay his wife $3 weekly. Prosecution of the charge brought against the respondent is temporarily stayed, although he remains under the custody of the court and continues at liberty on his own recognizance. Mrs. Jackson, who came all the way from Hyde Park to testify against her husband in the hearing that didn't materialize yesterday, was present when court announced its order.

Members of the Wahoo Athletic club, a Brook street aggregation, to the number of about 20 couples held their annual sleighride last evening, making the trip to Plainfield in Papin Bros' big barge, the Klondike. As soon as the party reached Plainfield, they were seated to a chicken-pie supper which Proprietor Snow of Bancroft inn had prepared for the company. After the supper hour, the crowd assembled at the hotel hall, where they held a dance, with music by the victrola. An impromptu program consisting of vocal and piano solos was given by members of the Wahoos.

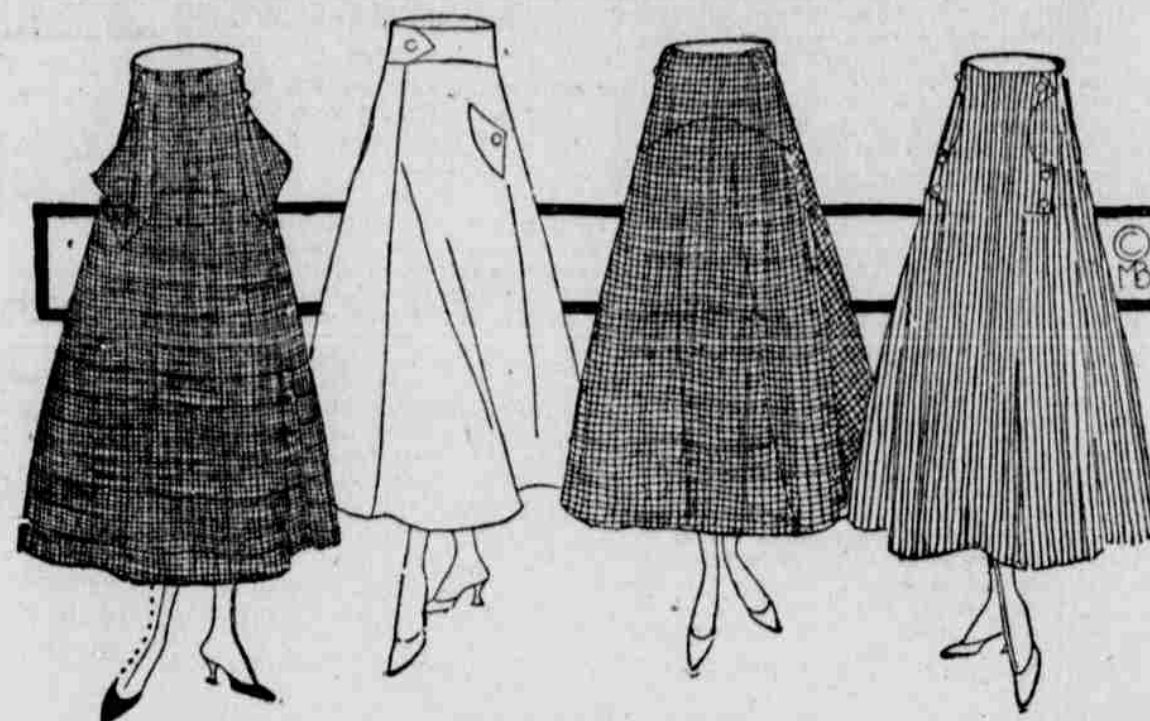

Judge H. W. Scott's Rose Comb Black Minorcas, which have been exhibited this week at the annual show of the Vermont State Poultry association in St. Albans, were highly estimated by the judges, as the pen will return to-morrow with several ribbons. On his Minorcas, the judge won first and second cock, first, second and third hen, second and third cockerel, first and third pullet, second and third pen, shape special on male, and shape and color on female. His nearest competitor in the Rose Comb Black Minorcas class was Walter Randall of Milton, a former resident of Barre, who won third cock, fourth hen, first cockerel, second pullet, first pen of young and color special male. W. J. Coates of East Calais, who specializes in Blue Andalusians, won a heap of honors with his fine showing of the blue birds and Mrs. M. F. Preston of Randolph fared well with her Golden Campines. Mrs. Preston received the American Poultry association bronze medal for the best cockerel in the American, Asiatic, Mediterranean and English classes.
